Conspiracy Theories and Hoaxes in the Modern Development of Slovakia in the European Context

ANNOTATION

The scientific conference for students and young scientists addresses the persistent threats of our time: after the COVID-19 pandemic, the next challenge to global and European security is posed by the conflict in Ukraine. The presence of disinformation, hoaxes and conspiracy theories is becoming an inherent part of these challenges in the 21st century. These often seek to erode trust in democracy, undermine the integrity of elections or reinforce the polarization and conflict in society. The given aspects allow for an interdisciplinary scope with regard to the study of both domestic and international elements. We are at a moment that calls for a responsible academic approach in offering reflections, possible solutions to gradually emerging, resonating and challenging issues. In this respect, the conference reflects the growing relevance of the issues underlined by the need for an intensive debate. Therefore, we consider the contributions of the speakers to be of a significant input, which will undoubtedly help to shape the expert discourse on the selected thematic areas.
